

ALMEX AS-88

The AS-88 machine is similar to the AS-10, but instead of being fixed to a post or wall, it is mounted on a pedestal. Again, ticket issue is identical to the AS-10, with the dial to select the station and 4 buttons for the ticket type. However, the tickets are the size of car park tickets issued from similar Pay and Display machines.

Tickets show the issuing station, date, ticket type and machine number on the top line, destination, time, fare and ticket number on the bottom line. The station names are abbreviated to a maximum of seven characters. One ticket is issued for returns.

Except where stated, each station had one machine.

- Machines removed but bases in situ in April 2000

ALMEX / METRIC AS-89

This machine is identical to those used in Pay and Display car parks. Almex was the original manufacturer. After being taken over by Metric, this name now appears on the machines. Two machines were in the forecourt car park at Leeds station issue double tickets, one has now been removed. One part being the car park ticket, the other is a platform ticket available for two persons. The platform ticket has since been replaced by a voucher. Coins are inserted up to the amount required, a button is pressed and the ticket issued. Tickets originally had the 'British Rail' title but by 1995, this had been replaced by 'Railtrack'.

A similar machine is located adjacent to the ticket barrier at Leeds station for the issue of platform tickets. Again, the title on tickets from these machines changed from 'British Rail' to 'Railtrack'.

STATION	M/c . No .
LEEDS	01R 02R*	Parking/platform ticket
LEEDS	09R	Platform ticket

When replaced by Railtrack issues, the station name on 09R is now shown as LEEDS CITY.

Machines 03R - 08R are presumed to be in the main car park and issue standard car park tickets only.
