

AVANTIX B8070

This is a modified B8050 machine now designated B8070 where buttons are replaced by monitor screen with 5 buttons down each side. The initial screen lists the most common destinations plus an option to select other stations. The latter then displays a range of letters of alphabet alongside each button. Pressing a button displays a list of stations within that range. The buttons are then used to scroll through the list to select the station required. The ticket type is then selected from the list plus child, if required. The fare is then shown, with payment being made by credit card or cash. If a credit card used, a sales voucher is also printed from a blank paper roll. The printed layout is similar to that of B8050 machines although a different font is used. Additionally, a machine number is shown.
